Death of Well Known Physician
Thursday Evening Follows Three Years of Ill Health

HAD A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Decline Began Following Strain of Large Practice During Influenza
Epidemic

Dr. William C. Smith, age 59 years, 711 North Perkins street, for more than 30 years a practicing physician of this city, expired Thursday evening at five o'clock, after an illness of a few days at the Cragmont Sanitarium near Madison, where he had been taking treatment for several months.

Dr. Smith was forced to give up his practice here about three years ago because of failing health and a nervous breakdown. His condition at times showed favorable improvement, but this week he was stricken, and grew much worse. His death was a shock to his relatives and a large circle of friends he had in Rush county.

The body was removed to his home in this city Thursday night, and funeral services will be held at the late residence Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Burial will be made in East Hill cemetery.

Dr. Smith was born at Fairview, just across the Rush county line in Fayette county, on February 23, 1866. He received his common school education in the schools of this county.

After finishing school, he began reading medicine, such as was the custom in those days, and spent two

TO NOTIFY RAILROADS TO ENLARGE BRIDGES

City Council Decides to Take Preliminary Steps for Enclosure of Hodges Branch

BRIDGES IN BAD CONDITION

A special session of the city council was held Thursday night for the purpose of again discussing plans for the improvement of Hodges Branch, in an effort to get a start in some direction for the proposed enclosing of the open drain.

The bridges of the city that pass over the open ditch are in a bad shape, and must be rebuilt if not entirely abolished by enclosing the ditch. The cost of the several bridges will reach $15,000 or $20,000, it is estimated.

At a former meeting of the council arrangements were made to install a five foot concrete sewer from Ninth to the Big Four railroad bridge below Seventh street. The contention of Will Dill, engineer on the project, is that an outlet at the bridges must be enlarged first, because the sewer would continue to cause flood waters unless an opening large enough at the bridges is provided.

At the meeting Thursday night, preliminary steps were begun in which the railroad will be notified to enlarge their bridges in order to accommodate the necessary sewer system. The cost of the contemplated sewer system is approximately $50,000.

BOYS CAMP MEETING TONIGHT

Final Decision will be Made Regarding
Camp on Lake Tippecanoe

A meeting of boys who intend to attend the Kiro camp at Camp Croxley, on Lake Tippecanoe, and of boys who want to attend, will be held at the Graham high school building this evening at 7:30 o'clock and every boy who has any idea of going to the camp is urged to be on hand.

It will be definitely decided tonight whether there is sufficient interest in a boy's camp to go ahead with the project. In order to get a special rate of one dollar a day, it will be necessary to have twenty boys from Rush county. The camp is scheduled to begin on Monday, July 20, and remain as long as the boys want to remain in camp.

Horses Force to Swim in Small
Creek That Overflowed—Heavy
Damage in State

Continued warm weather remains on the menu of the weather department, according to their prediction for tonight and Saturday with generally fair weather in sight and warmer in the northwest portions, and no prospect of relief.

The thunderstorms of Thursday afternoon and early this morning failed to break the high temperatures, and today the mercury was 87 degrees, with an oppressive atmosphere that made the temperature appear higher.

Several electrical and thunderstorms passed over this morning at two o'clock, accompanied by a terrific downpour of rain. No damage was reported in the county from lightning.

In the storm of Thursday afternoon a cloud burst was reported four miles south of Rushville on the Charley Winship farm. A volume of water fell within a short time that was estimated at three feet deep. Men who took refuge beneath a hay loader were forced to seek other shelter, and when they unhitched the horses and started for the barn it was necessary to swim their horses across Goose creek, which very seldom overflows its banks. The men waded in water three feet deep in opening the barn yard gates.

The cloud burst was reported only in a small section of that vicinity. The rain became much more less the

ANTHRACITE MINERS REFUSE TO ARBITRATE

Expect Operators to Take Same Stand and See no Hope of Reaching Wage Agreement

WALKOUT IS PREDICTED

(By United Press)
Atlantic City, N. J., July 10—All hope of friendly settlement of the wage controversy between the United Mine workers of America and anthracite coal operations has been abandoned by the miners, according to a statement made public today. Ellis Seales, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal and spokesman for the miners, said:

While a sub-committee composed of six representatives from each side was seeking to affect a mutual agreement at a conference here today, Seales issued the following statement:

"The miners are fully expecting the operators to take same stand they did yesterday. The miners have no hope of reaching an agreement. Every indication points to a continued deadlock.

"If this situation continues to exist there will be a walkout on September first. The miners positively will not arbitrate in the making of a contract.

Evolution Trial Combines Elements of Religious Revival and County Fair

Opens With Prayer and Reverts to Carnival Spirit as Townfolk and Merely Curious Mingle in Huge
Court Room at Dayton, Tenn.
Grand Jury Returns New Indictment, Making Phraseology Legal

(By United Press)
Dayton, Tenn., July 10—In an atmosphere which combined the elements of a religious revival and a county fair, the Scopes evolution trial swung into its first stage today.

Opening with a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Courtwright that "God might guide the decision of the judge and jury," it reverted shortly after to the semblance of a carnival spirit, as townfolk and mere curious people mingled in the huge court room, while a new grand jury retired for a time to bring in a strictly legal indictment against the high school teacher, who started the epic battle.

Then when this jury of twelve sturdy Tennessee farmers, miners and merchants had returned a new bill alleging the same criminal offense against Scopes, but drafted in more meticulous legal phraseology, the earnestness with which all approached the trial, returned.

John T. Scopes, Dayton high school teacher, formally started on the judicial path which will lead from Judge Raulston's court here to the supreme court of the United States. In the end he will know whether in teaching evolutionary biology in his classes, he committed a crime.

The new indictment was merely a formality but it served to delay the actual beginning of the legal battle.

Ceiless and collarless the people of the countryside, council, newspapermen and court attaches thronged about the bench and through the hugh chamber as Judge Raulston requested the Rev. Courtwright to ask divine guidance for the proceedings.

The Tennessee pastor, in a voice that boomed through the court room called on God to direct the course of the trial and give wisdom to the judge and jury.

"Every good and perfect gift cometh down from the Holy father of life. Thou art the source of our inspiration and power," Courtwright said.

"We are incapable of performing pure thoughts and religious deeds without Thine aid.

"We beseech Thee, O Father to give to this court a sufficient measure of divine spirit as will enable it to administer justice with wisdom to all and that God's standard of justice and holiness will be upheld."

The judge then asked the sheriff to find seats for all in the court room.

"Mr. Attorney," said the judge, "I am now calling the case of the state of Tennessee versus John Thomas Scopes."

E. T. Stewart, attorney general of the 18th circuit, stepped forward. "Do you want the grand jury assembled?" asked the judge.

"Yes," replied Stewart.

Clarence Darrow of the defense and Stewart then conferred.

Sheriff R. B. Harris, standing by the judge's desk, then called the jury panel one by one to the platform and they took seats in the jury chairs.

A little boy of four years, seated on the judge's desk, drew slips from a hat and the sheriff summoned the men so picked from the first panel waiting in the room.

When 13 men were drawn, Judge Raulston excused two who had served on a regular jury in the past two years and two more names were drawn from the hat.

The new jury was assembled to

WHITE SNAKE ROOT FOUND IN COUNTY

Heavy Patch of Dangerous Weed
Located in Woods on Floyd Williams Farm

CAUSES FATAL DISEASE

When Eaten in Large Quantities,
Capable of Causing Milk Poisoning, Affecting People

White snake root, the cause of trembles, a fatal disease of sheep, cattle and horses, was found on a number of Rush county farms during a poison plant survey of the county recently conducted by County Agent VanMatre, and A. A. Hansen of the Purdue extension staff.

A heavy patch of the dangerous weed was located in the woods of Floyd Williams south of Knights-town. Two years ago 10 head of sheep died of trembles, while grazing in this woods. Previous to the time Mr. Williams moved on the farm the owner experienced a loss of one or more cows each summer, due to vegetable poisoning, but not until Mr. Williams identified the white snake root last fall was there an explanation to be given for these losses.

On a farm near Mays, cattle have been lost practically every year for the many years past, while three sheep died in the wood lot pasture last year after exhibiting symptoms typical of snake root poisoning. The investigation revealed heavy infestation of white snake root.

When eaten in large quantities white snake root is capable of poisoning milk, causing a human disease known as milk sickness, a disease held responsible for thousands of the deaths of the early settlers in Indiana.

In order that the people in Rush county may be given an opportunity to become acquainted with this dangerous weed, County Agent VanMatre is planning an exhibit of living specimens which will be placed in all the banks of the county the first part of next September, when the plant is in full flower.

TO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

At the close of the meeting of the Noble Township Farm bureau, Tuesday evening, July 14, the Rushville business men will give an entertainment in the New Salem auditorium, to which everybody is cordially invited.

CONTRACTOR FINED BY MAYOR

A. R. Herkless Found Guilty of Assault on Bridge Superintendent

A. R. Herkless of this city was found guilty of assault and battery on George Bell of Center township, in a trial held Thursday night in police court before Mayor Thomas, and he was fined $1 and costs. According to the evidence, the men figured in an argument over the construction of a bridge near Mays, and before the argument ended, Bell testified that Herkless assaulted him, and pushed him in the river.

Mr. Herkless was the contractor building the bridge and Mr. Bell was the superintendent appointed by the county commissioners to supervise the work. The altercation arose over the question of following the plans and specifications, according to the evidence.

PRINCIPALS IN CAST ANNOUNCED

Rehearsals For "Princess Bonnie,"
Phi Delta Kappa Show, Are in Full Swing

TICKETS READY SATURDAY

Miss Irene Reardon Will Have Title Role—Elaborate Costumes and Settings

The principal characters in the cast of "Princess Bonnie," the comic opera to be given by the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity July 21 and 22, at the Graham Annex, were announced today. Besides the principal characters, there will be an opening chorus of more than forty people and four groups.

The principals are Princess Bonnie, Miss Irene Reardon; Kitty Clover, Emily Mauzy; Auntie Crabbe, Lillian Priest; Donna Pomposo, Helen Gray; Shrimps, Howard Brecheisen; Capt. Tarpsaulin, Jules Kiplinger; Roy Sterling, Denning Havens; Admiral Pomposo, John Davis; Fulsetti, Jean Kiplinger; Salvador, Loren Hunt; Capt. Surf, Marvin Alexander.

Tickets for the show will go on sale Saturday and will be in the hands of all Phi Delta Kappa members and other people in this city. The proceeds of the show will go to the Woman's Council and other charitable organizations.

The show is being put on by the John Rogers Producing company and is full of gay dashes of laughter, bits of entrancing music, beautiful costumes and elaborate stage settings. It is one of the biggest shows ever put on by this company. It is a comic opera and its choruses with many voices, the dances and captivating solo numbers are always put over with much pep.

They carry an unusual large wardrobe for the production, including costumes of velvet and satin combinations copied after the Spanish style. Not all are lovely however, because the comedian "Shrimps" will wear a ridiculous costume befitting the screamingly funny character he portrays.

The cast is progressing nicely in rehearsals and the director is very well pleased with the showing thus far, and hopes to have it in tip-top form by the date of the show.

FURNITURE COMPANY IS FINED

Rushville Concern Among These
Pleading Guilty on Indictment

(By United Press)

Chicago, July 10—Eighty-two furniture manufacturers today pleaded guilty to violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and were fined in amounts totaling $186,000.

Those pleading guilty today were manufacturers of household furniture and case goods. Manufacturers of chairs and refrigerators pleaded guilty previously.

The fines imposed today brought the total amount since the government started its investigation of the furniture industry to $420,000.

The Rushville Furniture company, which was among those indicted, was fined $2,000, according to a list of fines assessed by the court and made public in Chicago.

BOOSTERS GOING TO GING TONIGHT

Crowd to Continue Visiting Township Farm Bureau Meetings Until All Are Held

AT HOMER THURSDAY NIGHT

Judge Will M. Sparks and Hugh E. Mauzy Speak and Musical Program is Provided

Rushville boosters who are visiting all of the monthly township farm bureau meetings this month in the interest of the Rush county chautauqua and general community welfare, are scheduled to go to Gings tonight for the Union township farmer's meeting.

Howard Ewbank, township chairman, will preside and a part of the program will be given by members of the Rushville Boosters club. The two addresses tonight will be made by Paul Allen and J. T. Arbuckle.

Thursday night's meeting took place at the Homer school building and the occasion was the regular monthly session of the Walker Township Farm Bureau. The speakers were Judge Will M. Sparks and Hugh E. Mauzy.

Dossie Callahan, farm bureau chairman, presided while the regular business of the farmer's organization was being transacted, and then turned the meeting over to the Rush county boosters from Rushville.

Dr. J. B. Kinsinger, president of the Rush County Chautauqua association, then took charge of the meeting, stating the purpose of the boosters' coming and introduced Omer Trusler, song leader.

Mr. Trusler is having great success in the township meetings in promoting community singing, and his efforts at Homer got a fine response from the Walker township people.

The famous male quartet, which John A. Titsworth, "dubbed" the "preachers quartet" at the Rushville township meeting Wednesday night, has been winning big ovations at every meeting and last night's session was no exception. The quartet is composed of O. P. Wamsley, A. M. Taylor, Mr. Trusler and O. R. Zimmer.

The quartet also ably assisted Mrs. C. E. Walden in her vocal solo numbers. Mrs. Walden's selections

AGED MAN OVERCOME BY HEAT, DIES IN FEW HOURS

Aaron C. Foster, Age 73 Years, Formerly Rush County Farmer, Stricken at Daughter's Home

BURIAL TO BE HELD HERE

Aaron C. Foster, tenant for a number of years on the Coleman farm, just northeast of Rushville, died suddenly early Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. V. C. Stewart in Noble township, Shelby county, death being attributed to a heat stroke suffered Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Foster left this county recently to live with his daughter. He was apparently in good health Wednesday, and left at noon for a visit to the river that is near their farm. When he did not return for supper the family became alarmed, and started a search.

He appeared at home about seven o'clock in a dazed condition, and was exhausted from his walk in the extreme heat. His body was found dead in bed Thursday morning. He was 73 years of age.

Surviving him are his daughter at whose home he died, and four sons, Ed Foster and Carl Foster, both of Decatur county; Edgar Foster and Harry Foster who reside in the west. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Ed Stewart of Milroy, Mrs. Sam McKee of Russellville, Ark., and two brothers, George Foster of Knightstown and Robert Foster of Adams.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 12:30 at the Stewart home in Shelby county, with the Rev. R. O. Pearson of Waldron in charge. The body will be brought to Rushville after the services and burial in East Hill cemetery.

replied Scopes, because, as Judge Raulston explained, there was some questions as to the legality of the original indictment.

Raulston then read the first chapter of Genesis from a battered old Bible he brought to the court room. When he finished, Raulston told the jury the question for them to decide was whether Scopes had violated the Tennessee anti-evolution law. He explained the separation of state and federal functions. He said he regarded the Scopes case as a "high misdemeanor" and exceptionally serious because of its example of law violation on the part of a teacher.

CORN PROSPECTS BEST IN YEARS

Starts beginning to tassel in many fields, showing how rapidly it was advanced.

JULY CROP REPORT OUT

Shows Average 8 Percent Larger Than Last Year—Market Improvement in Wheat

The condition of the Indiana corn crop is estimated at ten points above normal in the July crop report for Indiana issued today. This is not surprising to Rush county people who have observed the improvement in the corn within the past month, or since the end of the prolonged drought.

It was reported in the county agent's office this morning that corn had begun to tassel, which shows how rapidly it is developing, and a farmer in the county agent's office said that his corn would be sending out suckers next week.

Many farmers can be found who are willing to say that corn prospects right now are better than they have ever been at the same period of the year.

The state crop report estimates the Rush county corn acreage, at 93,200, which is larger than last year. There is an average increase of six percent in corn acreage throughout the state.

The state crop reporters estimate that the crop as a whole will be better than the best crop in the past six years.

The increase of more than a million bushels in the forecast for winter wheat since June 1 seems rather surprising in view of the reports of failure to fill following the May frost which caused some damage in widespread districts. The southern part of the state has a good wheat crop, and the frost damage in the most of the state is very spotted, and in the northern part of the state wheat stood the drought better than expected.

Four percent of the 1924 crop remains on farms, or 1,255,000 bushels.

The oats condition is another surprise. Up to the middle of June the crop was thought a practical failure, but it responded to the June showers surprisingly, and the reports now give a condition which indicates a yield of 27.2 bushels per acre. As the acreage is much larger than last year the forecast is four-fifths of last year's production.

Rye prospects declined over one-half million bushels in June. This is partly due to the drought, which was intense the first half of June and was broken only at harvest. The greater part of the decline is attributed to the failure to fill resulting from the freeze in May, but the effects of which were not fully realized on June 1.

NO CHANGE FOR TRIO'S TRIAL UNTIL OCTOBER

Judge Hines' Order's Original Court Docket Closed For Summer, Stopping Hope of Hearing

MAY TRY A HIGHER COURT

Noblesville, Ind., July 10—All possibility of D. C. Stephenson, former Klan chieftain, and Earl Klenck and Earl Gentry, being tried in Hamilton county court before October on a charge of murdering Miss Maudie Oberholtzer, was ended today.

The court criminal docket was ordered closed until October by Judge Hines. His action shuts off the last remaining hope of the defense to have the case considered at an adjourned session of the court starting July 22.

Judge Hines' order was issued while defense attorneys were in conference at the county jail with Stephenson over the next move to be taken.

Habeas corpus proceedings before the state supreme court to obtain release of the three men on bond is practically the only action that can prevent the trio from spending the summer in jail, according to attorneys.

Whether habeas corpus proceedings will be resorted to was not revealed by Eph Innman, chief defense attorney, after the conference with the three prisoners.

Evolution Sidelights

Dayton, Tenn., July 10—All night long, sides of beef sizzled over a trench full of glowing coals in the court house lawn. A real old-style barbecue was in order. The odor of cooking meat pervaded the court room.

Clarence Darrow, leading defense counsel received as big a welcome on his arrival from Chicago last night as Bryan did. A crowd of 300 was at the station. Darrow climbed into a back seat of a car with Scopes Sr. and Judge Neal Scopes, the defendant, and Dr. William A. Goldsmith, University of Kansas scientific witness, rode in the front seat. Darrow would make no statement.

Darrow is taking no chances of Dayton cooking. Mrs. Darrow and a cook are arriving soon. When they do, Darrow will move from "The Mansion" to a private home.

Federal prohibition agents made their first "pinch" of the trial last night, when they arrested a traveler on the edge of town, charged with possessing a quantity of moonshine, including county and state officers 12 dry agents are on hand for the case.

Water has been piped throughout the courthouse grounds which comprise about 24 acres with drinking fountains every fifty feet around the whole square. Any lights also have been strung beneath the maple and sweet gum trees for the benefit of anti-evolution and Bible meetings at night.

From Girlhood To Womanhood

Through all these periods of their existence thousands of women toil on, often suffering with backache, pains in side, headaches and nervousness, all telltale symptoms of some local derangement. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as the one great remedy that will overcome such ailments. All over America women are telling other women how this wonderful medicine has restored them to health and the joy of living. This accounts for the tremendous demand for this popular medicine for women.

A severe electrical storm visited Rushville and vicinity during the night, but no damage by electricity was reported.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 10—A violent electrical storm accompanied by heavy rain swept Indianapolis early today. Lightning during the storm caused a $50,000 fire and four smaller blazes.

A bolt of lightning set fire to a brick building of the Falender Brothers' Junk company. The building was badly damaged and 250 tons of cotton and rags in a shed adjoining the building caught fire.

Eleven fire companies battled for five hours before the smoldering blaze in the cotton was extinguished. The loss from the fire was $50,000.

Three dwellings and a freight shed near the Bell railroad were also struck by lightning but the fires were put out with little damage.

The rainfall was .92 of an inch in

Benefits of The Park

When the pastors of the Commersville district, Methodist Episcopal church, together with their families, held their first annual picnic at Memorial park here this week, they were so well pleased with the conveniences the place offered, and with its natural beauty, that they decided to come back next year.

This is a fine compliment for the park and should cause Rushville people to appreciate it all the more.

It is not many years ago that the park was a cow pasture. It grew up in weeds and hay and some fortunate man got a hay crop off of it every year. After the Rush County Chautauqua association built the coliseum, a little more attention was paid to the park, but even then it was given scant care. Along about chautauqua time the hay was cut around the building and that was all.

The Daily Republican claims no credit for the present park, but it does distinctly recall its endeavors to stir up some interest in the park, and eventually enough men with civic pride got together and began to get things done at the park.

Now the park is an asset with which the city would be loathe to part. It provides a splendid place for children's recreation, a most pleasant place on hot summer evenings for people to gather and furnish ideal conditions for family reunions and meetings of every character.

The park, although it is supported by Rushville taxes, is for the free use of everyone within our gates. Every person in Rush county is privileged to utilize the park for any purpose they see fit, providing they do not interfere with the rights of others. It leaves in the mind of the stranger who uses the tourists' camp a pleasant recollection and a most wholesome respect for Rushville as a thriving, hospitable, prosperous community.

Money spent in the development of the park has not been wasted because it provides a recreational center of which the residents of Rushville may well be proud—and tends to tie together the people of Rushville more closely because it is certain to add to their civic pride.

Let's Have Optimism

It is generally agreed that the economic condition of the farmers is not what it ought be, and that it is necessary that it should be improved, for the general welfare of the country. The farm is the original source of most of our wealth. The influence of a depressed agriculture is certain to be injuriously felt by every element in industry.

Excessive farm pessimism, however, is harmful to agricultural interests. The constantly proclaimed theory that farming has become an unprofitable industry, a "losing game," has served to depress farm values and restrict farm credit. If it were constantly proclaimed that banking, merchandising or publishing a newspaper has ceased to be profitable, the number of bankruptcies in these lines of activity would be greatly increased.

The political "friends" of the farmer who have been painting pictures of general bankruptcy in the farming industry have done agriculture immense economic harm.

Farm conditions are much better than they were five years ago, and they are steadily growing better. It is admitted that the farmer has been the chief sufferer from war time inflation and peace time deflation. He has been hard hit by a rising level of wages and other costs in industry, without a commensurate increase in farm product prices. There is a serious determination on the part of the government and on the part of the farmers themselves to effect relief from this abnormal condition. Optimism will help some. And there is no question about the future of farming in a country possessing such an enormous capacity for consumption of farm products.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.—The theory of taxation is that rates should be high enough, but no higher than necessary, to support an efficient government; to pay interest on, and gradually reduce, debts piled up by preceding governments which failed to live within their incomes; that the burden should fall on the taxpayers in proportion to their means.

THIS is the theory of taxation, from the federal government's down to the pettiest township.

But when it comes to the question of tax collection methods, the federal government's theory is one thing, and the theories of state, county and city governments are "something else again."

THE federal government's idea is to sugarcoat its taxes all it can—to rely on indirection, particularly the tariff, and stamp duties, which, while they yield revenue, do it so subtly that the average taxpayer doesn't know he's being taxed.

The income tax isn't like this, Lord knows. It's an exception, however—an emergency war tax. Besides, it catches only a minority. At that, the federal government's aware how unpopular it is. Take note—it's the first federal tax to be reduced.

STATE and lesser governments prefer the strong-arm method. Summoned into city and county treasurers' offices, the taxpayer is forced to hand spot cash through the wicket, under threat of dispossession of his property—like a highwayman's victim surrendering his grouch at the point of a gun.

This extortion has reached proportions lately which alarmed

Spankings and Discipline

Elbert H. Gary said, in the course of an interview, that he never spanked his children to discipline them, but recalled that he once locked his daughter in a closet for a misdeed and kept her there until she said she was sorry.

He compared his plan of rearing children with that of the past generation, and remembered that he once was spanked by his father for saying "damn."

Mr. Gary does not condone spankings, but the very fact that he has a distinct recollection of his treatment when he used the profane word in the presence of his father, indicates that the methods of his father had a most wholesome effect.

There are undoubtedly occasions when nothing will serve the purpose like a spanking. A little more of it might be used to advantage in enforcing discipline in the present generation.

AMUSEMENTS

Fred Johnson on Screen

Back of the screen after a long enforced layoff due to a broken leg which he sustained in one of his daring stunts before the camera, Fred Thompson appears in his new picture, "That Devil Queimado" at the Princess theatre today; when the production begins a two day engagement. The star and his four-legged co-star, Silver King, are the outstanding features of this border story by Marvin White, and their popularity can but be increased by the production; for both are cast in roles particularly suited to their capabilities. "Queimado" is a picture which, devil-may-care cavalier who will dash into every feminine heart just as he dashes in and out of the rapid-fire situations of this thrilling tale. Gloria Hope, in the leading feminine role, is a delightfully fiery and some state governments, but it breeds a revolt, and they're borrowing a few of the federal government's tricks of indirection.

As a general proposition, however, the federal government's taxation policy is to be stick and the local governments' policy is to be crude.

THE explanation? It seems to be this:

The federal government is so far removed from the masses of voters as to be hardly recognizable as their own creation. If it arouses their resentment, they'll make no allowances.

A Washington senator or representative fixing Florida's taxes? Gotta be careful.

But a local government? The people, who made it know they made it themselves. It's up to them.

Let a national politician make a mistake and he can't explain to the country. Let a local one arouse his constituents' anger to the boiling point—if he's smooth enough, he can talk 'em out of it.

FEDERAL taxes are high but coming down. State taxes are higher and coming up. County taxes are higher yet and coming up still faster. City taxes are highest of all and no rise equals theirs.

The nearer you get to the people, who have the most to say about their own local affairs, the worse the situation gets.

The natural conclusion is that the people, basically, are least to be trusted of all.

It's axiomatic that a people gets as good a government as it deserves. The American people seem to be getting better ones, all up and down the line.

Then why so much kicking about taxes—and other things? We ought to be pretty well satisfied.

aristocratic heroine, and the direction of the picture shows a skilled hand, which is not surprising when it is known that Del Andrews, who whipped "The Galloping Fish" and "The Hotentot" into shape, was behind the megaphone. ## Bryant Washburn Starring

The new Shirley Mason film which closes at the Castle theatre tonight is the story of two ambitious young people of the stage, both very much in love.

Sylvia Joy, first a cabaret dancer and later a musical comedy star, is married to John Warding, an actor in a popular Broadway play. Her producer, William Benton, has designs on his protegee.

To complicate matters young Warding loses his position, and develops an inferiority complex because he is forced to allow his wife to pay the family bills. As a result, he goes away and Sylvia's loyalty is put to a severe test before the clouds finally lift, and the married lovers are reunited.

Bryant Washburn, who played husband to Shirley in another Fox picture released not long ago, is again cast in that agreeable role. Shannon Day does a unique bit of characterization as a thoroughly unsophisticated chorus girl. Richard Tucker, as usual, is the deep dyed-in-the-wool villain, and Thomas R. Mill and Merta Sterling play minor parts.

Tilden Sets Tremendous Pace

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, July 10—Some time ago, in one of the early season tournaments, Bill Tilden, greatest of all the tennis players, was beaten by young Vinnie Richards and the court historians went milling through the records for Tilden's obituary.

On that particular day it might have looked that Tilden was approaching the slipping stage that is bound to come eventually from the effects of increasing years and too much competition. But since that time it seems that Tilden had one of those bad days that even champions cannot avoid.

Tilden now is playing the best tennis of his career, although his work is always spotty. He has the habit of toying with an opponent and putting on speed when he has to do it and putting on just enough to win.

During the past two years when he was engaged in various controversies with the tennis association about Davis Cup matters and his newspaper writings, it was thought that Tilden was getting sour on tennis. Even with all his natural ability, he could not continue as a champion without the urge that comes to any one who loves his game or his work.

When he took up theatricals rather seriously and threatened to confine his competition to Davis Cup matches and the national championship, it was feared that his game would suffer from the lack of work that is so essential to keep any kind of a game on its proper edge.

But instead of restricting his competition, he apparently has decided to get into every tournament that the schedule will permit and to make this year his biggest and best year.

With Tilden in his first-class game available for the American team that will defend the Davis Cup—and nothing but a broken limb can keep him off the team—another American victory is almost assured. Either France or Australia should survive for the final challenge round and although they are strong teams, the American position is almost unbreachable.

Comment from Australia expresses an opinion that if Bill Johnson is not in his real form or does not play in the singles matches that Australia can beat the American team, the inference apparently being that Johnston is almost sure to beat Patterson, the Australian seige gun, every time they meet.

In recent years since the Davis Cup competitions started to draw so many foreign teams to this country, the national tennis championships have been so filled with foreign entries that the tournament was virtually worth a rating as the world's championship. American officials, since contesting the right of the Wimbledon tournament to award a world's championship have been careful to avoid any suggestion that a championship of the world was the reward for the winner at Forest Hills, but the winner can't be shot for saying that he is the best player in the world; for he will have survived the elimination of all the world's best players.

The field this year will not be much more imposing than it has been since the French youngsters found it possible to enter, but the competition may be better as the tournament is to be staged after the Davis Cup challenge round and there will be no occasion for any of the players to sacrifice themselves in the nationals to save up for the cup matches.

Competition in the women's class also may be more interesting as a result of the imposing invasion that is to be made by California and the obvious improvement that Mrs. Molly Mallory, the former champion, has brought about in her game and the seriousness of her intentions.

Miss Helen Wills, the national champion, is leading the invasion of the Californians and with her will be Miss Mary K. Browne, former champion and golf star, Miss Helen Jacobs, the youthful sensation of last year and Miss Charlotte Houser, another youngster who is said to be better than Miss Jacobs.

Efforts are to be made to get Mrs. May Sutton Bundy to come east to play a special match against Mrs. Lambert Chambers, who is coming over as the captain of the British team that is to play the American team in the Wimbledon Cup matches. Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Bundy were the finalists at the Wimbledon championships a year ago when the then May Sutton won the championship.

Commissioners' Sale of Real Estate

Notice is hereby given by the undersigned commissioners, heretofore appointed in Cause No. 3661, in the Rush Circuit Court, wherein Charles M. Phillip is plaintiff and Mary E. Tribbey and Lee Tribbey are defendants, that by order of said Rush Circuit Court, in said cause, said commissioners will offer at private sale, on

Saturday, August 8th 1925

AT THREE O'CLOCK P. M. and from day to day thereafter, until sold, the following described real estate, in the town of Arlington, Rush County, Ind., to-wit:

Lots three (3) and six (6) in R. E. Wilson's Addition to the town of Arlington, as shown by recorded plat, thereof excepting a portion of said lot six conveyed thereto to the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company, described as follows: All of said lot 6 lying south and west of a straight line, running from the southeast corner of said lot to a point 5 feet and 6 inches south of the northwest corner thereof.

The aforesaid described real estate consists of almost two full town lots, located on Main Street, in the town of Arlington, Indiana. Said lots front on a good cement, paved street and there is an alley adjoining the south side of one of the lots.

This property is well improved and there is located on it a good, substantial five-room house, with a large cellar, and wired for electricity. The other buildings on the premises consist of a good barn, a smoke house, a chicken house, a gasoline house and another building, heretofore used as a tool shed, which would make a good garage. All these buildings are substantial and in good repair, and each building is wired for electricity.

There is a good driven well at the house. There are a number of fruit trees on the premises, consisting principally of apple and plum trees. There is also a large number of grape vines, trained over a well made grape arbor.

There is, also, plenty of room for a chicken yard and a fine garden.

The premises are well shaded by good trees. This is an excellent opportunity for anyone wishing to buy a nice home in the town of Arlington, where you may have railroad, motor bus and interurban facilities, and easy access to a fine school.

Terms of Sale

Said real estate will be sold at private sale for not less than the full appraised value thereof, and subject to the approval of the Rush Circuit Court, at the law office of Douglas Morris, Miller Law Building, Rushville, Indiana, on the following terms and conditions, to-wit:

One-half the purchase price to be paid cash in hand on day of sale and the remainder payable in six months after date, the purchaser to have the option of paying the entire purchase price in cash. The deferred payment, if any, to be evidenced by the note of the purchaser, bearing six per cent. interest per annum from date, providing for attorney's fees and secured by a first mortgage on the premises sold.

DOUGLAS MORRIS
RUSSEL B. TITSWORTH, Commissioners

Hot Weather Hints

A suit, dress or any other garment is so much cooler and more comfortable when it is clean and a suit looks so much neater and more dressy when it has a good press in it.

Don't neglect these facts, for personal appearance counts much and it must not be right just in cool weather and neglected in warm weather. To dress well and look nice, means the year 'round—not just at times.

W. C. SMITH, DOCTOR HERE 30 YEARS, DIES

years as an understudy to his father, the late Dr. W. H. Smith, who was among the pioneer physicians of this city.

After the two years spent with his father, he enrolled himself as a student in the Ohio Medical college at Cincinnati, graduating from this institution in 1892. He returned here and began the active practice of medicine with his father in that year.

He continued with his father in business until the latter's death, about twelve years ago, but he continued the practice here, being forced himself to give up the active practice about three years ago, on account of failing health, and a nervous breakdown. During the influenza epidemic a few years ago, he was overworked, and this induced a nervous breakdown that ultimately caused his death.

Dr. Smith was a member of the Rush County Medical Society, and had served as president of the organization. For a number of years he served as county physician, and also for several years was city health commissioner, and was secretary of the city health board for years. He also was a member of the Union District Medical society, several local lodges and the Methodist church.

He was married April 6, 1892, to Miss Blanche Conde. Three children were born to the union, two of whom survive, Mrs. George Hogsett and Conwell Smith, both of this city. He also leaves one brother, Walter E. Smith of this city and two sisters Mrs. Luella Fish of Indianapolis and Mrs. John H. Frazee of this city. Two grand children also survive.

HERE'S RELIEF FOR STOMACH SUFFERERS

DI-JO SWEETENS STOMACH, DIGESTS THE FOOD, AND STOPS INDIGESTION

However disagreeable belching is, the average of us could put up with it if that were all there were to it. But it isn't. Belching is a symptom of a disordered stomach. It is the result of indigestion and it ought to be STOPPED, not because it's impolite, but because it is a warning of nature. This can be corrected by taking Di-Jo. Di-Jo is a simple digestive tablet which sweetens the stomach, helps the stomach to digest the food, enriches the gastric juices of the stomach, and best of all it saves a lot of suffering. Don't suffer with the slightest digestive disorder one single day more. It isn't at all necessary, and it can be quickly relieved. Take Di-Jo and a cup of warm water after your next meal and you'll be surprised at the almost instant relief. If you have a pain in your stomach after a heavy meal, Di-Jo almost unfailingly relieves it. If you need a laxative, take Di-Jo. It was compounded to use in connection with Di-Jo. Then after you get relief, just give your stomach a little milder treatment in the way of food. Fresh green vegetables, boiled eggs, milk and light food will help you immensely to get your stomach back to normal. For sale by all druggists.
